HAL LONGLEY, Sale Mgr., 16 S. Locust Street, Aurora, Illinois.

Yes, buying a new herd bull is a tough job anytime, but it's a lot easier when you have this kind of a selection. When your whole future is at stake, isn't it good judgment to make your purchase where the selection is large and the quality high? Doesn't it seem safer to buy where hundreds of other critical breeders have purchased successful sires? Isn't it logical to buy from the herd that has won premier honors at the greatest shows? The twenty bulls pictured here, and two more of equal quality but not pictured, are all to be sold in the Mathers Sale at Levedale Farms, Mason City, Illinois, on Monday, November 4th. It is the opinion of the owners as well as all who have seen them that this is the greatest group of bulls ever offered from this famous breeding nursery. Most certainly they are the kind to buy when you can't afford to guess!

Attend this sale in person if you possibly can. It will be a trip you will never forget. However, if you like these bulls and can't possibly make it to the sale, write or call the Sale Manager for the names of reliable fieldmen who will gladly serve as your buying agent. Phone Aurora 6-8511.

Have you noticed the uniformity of these bulls? Since this is the entire crop from a cow herd of moderate size, you must admit that such uniformity is truly remarkable. Remember — not just one or two good bulls — 22 of them.
